Welcome to the 2025 Hadlow Marine Catalogue.

Hadlow Marine Services has been trading for over thirty years.

Leaking windows? First make sure that it is the window that is letting in water and not a fitting above the window – with the water running down behind the trim. If it is your window that is leaking we do not recommend that you use clear mastic or “creeping crack cures”, they are at best only a temporary solution that seal the moisture in causing electrolytic problems. The seals that were used in the manufacture of the window only have a limited useful life, about ten to fifteen years depending on the conditions, before they become brittle, losing their ability to move with the expansion and contraction of the glass and surround, thus letting water seep through. The only sure way to effect a cure is to remove the window (strip down and clean aluminium frames) and rebed the glass/acrylic using new seals or sealant.

There are five common ways of fitting windows to boats:

1) Plastic windows which are made larger than the aperture and screwed to the boat with a PVC gasket or silicone mastic seal. This method is fine for all uses, the thickness of the plastic and the material used can be changed to suit individual circumstances. There are two types of plastic commonly used, the first, acrylic (e.g. Perspex®, Plexiglass®) stronger than glass and will last for many years, the other is polycarbonate (e.g. Lexan®, Makralon®) which because of its chemical construction is much stronger than acrylic but will lose clarity more quickly. Because of its strength, thinner sheets can be used where weight has premium over cost e.g. for ocean racing or where there is a vandalism problem. Do not use countersunk screws on plastic windows – the expansion and contraction of the acrylic will cause stress crazing around the screw holes. Do not use a power screwdriver when fixing acrylic windows, it will crack the plastic even at low torque.

2) Glass or plastic windows bonded to the boat. This is done for cost reduction during the manufacture of the boat. It is not a good idea because the two material expand and contract at differing speeds stressing the sealant.

3) Framed windows fitted with either glass or plastic. Glass is the most hard wearing. We do not manufacture new frames but we can refurbish your existing ones or supply Vetus ready to fit opening or fixed windows. Framed windows have the disadvantage that they can leak at two places, through the join between the frame and the glass, or through the join between the frame and the boat. However they do look smart and can have opening sections.

4) Windows held in place by a rubber seal with a locking strip called the Claytonrite or Patent Weather Strip method. This system is no longer used for new boats. It was never suited to GRP boats anyway because of the varying thickness of the fibreglass lay-up. It is excellent for plywood or metal vessels that are not going offshore.

5) Windows bonded onto the GRP. This method has been introduced to reduce costs in manufacture. When the windows start to leak or craze or get smashed the repair is not going to be easy.

CLEAR AND TINTED ACRYLIC AND POLYCARBONATE SHEET

CUTTING TO TEMPLATE: PLEASE ALLOW £4.00 PER METRE OF EDGE LENGTH

(Straight rectangular cutting is already included in the Unit Price).

*PRICING IS BASED ON UNITS OF 250mm x 250mm (this is only for costing, it doesn't mean your order will come in small squares).

You will be charged for the minimum rectangle of whole units of 250mm x 250mm that your window or windows can be cut from.

One window 500mm (2 units) x 350mm (over 1 unit, less than 2 units) will be charged as 2 units x 2 units = 4 units e.g. £34.00 in 5mm clear.

Two windows of 500mm x 350mm (500mm x 700mm) will be charged as 500mm x 750mm (2 units x 3 units) = 6 units e.g. £51.00 in 5mm clear.

Where windows are of unequal sizes you will be charged for the most economical rectangle or rectangles they can be cut from.

Maximum sheet size is 3050x2030mm.

COLOUR SWATCHES

Have you considered how changing the colour of your craft's windows could enhance it's appearance.

To choose which colour will suit best, we can send you a set of swatches (state thickness of acrylic required) for £5.00. The cost of the swatches will then be deducted from your first order.

TINTED ACRYLIC COLOURS STOCKED

As well as stocking clear acrylic in all thicknesses from 3mm to 12mm and a limited stock of clear polycarbonate, we hold the following stocks of tinted acrylic. If you require a non-stock colour or thickness we will endeavour to meet your requirements, but not all colours are available in all thicknesses and there may be a surcharge.

Tint colour	3mm	5mm	6mm	8mm	10mm	12mm
Light Grey	■		■	■	■	■
Smoke Grey		■
Dark Grey (black)		■		□
Bronze	■	■	■	■	■	■

☐ We still have some offcuts of these tints, it may not be possible to obtain new stocks.

5mm THICK SCREW-FIXED ACRYLIC WINDOWS

5mm thick acrylic windows, clear or tinted, shaped to your template, edges bevelled, fixing holes drilled and supplied with 25mm wide by 3mm thick grey PVC sealing tape ready for fixing to your boat. For screw prices see pages 11 and 12.

TOOLS: all that is needed is a screwdriver (not electric) and a craft knife (and a drill if there are no existing screw holes).

In order to make the windows for your craft we will need a template. We normally make the window 1" (25mm) bigger than the aperture all round but you may want a different shape, or for the window to cover more than one opening.

IMPORTANT Please see the information on templates on page 2.

We will be happy to quote on the following:

• Quantity discounts – because of unit charging (see above) two or more windows can often be cheaper • Other thicknesses of acrylic • Larger sizes • Delivery

REFURBISHING YOUR ALUMINIUM FRAMED WINDOWS AND SCREENS

Your frames are stripped down in our workshop, cleaned and reassembled using the existing glass or new acrylic, new rubber seals wherever possible, fixed panes are sealed with black Arbosil 1096 mastic, sliding sections will have VCR (Velvet Covered Rubber) channel inserts and draught seals replaced.* Opening sections have new closing seals where required.

This list is for old standard windows. Newer windows with the pane attached on the inside such as those made by Lewmar may incur extra costs

*Toughened glass is required for Lloyds Certification and can be obtained. It does however take much longer to process as the glass has to be ordered especially. Windows with special seals or that have been previously refurbished using non standard materials including non toughened glass may be subject to extras charges.

FRAME REMOVAL TIPS

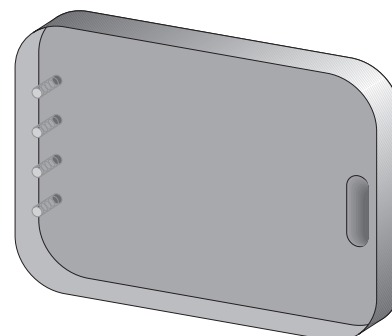

When removing the frames from the boat, whether it is for us to refurbish or for you to do your own, do not lever the frame outward to break the seal, if you bend the aluminium you also stretch it making it impossible to get flat again. The way to break the seal is, using a putty knife and a mallet, work round the frame along the line of the joint. Once you have broken the seal all round the window you can pry it out gently without bending the frame. Round off the corners of the putty knife with a file before you start to prevent them from digging in and damaging either the boat or the frame.

If you are refurbishing your own frames we can supply the parts you need; seals, mastic, cleaners, new screws, etc, and of course Scapa bedding tape for replacing them in the boat. Download our guide on how to do it from www.yachtwindows.co.uk/Pages/Downloads.html

REPLACEMENT ACRYLIC FOR OPENING PORTS

*There is a surcharge if the lid is still attached to the deck frame. Doing the job yourself you will also need (except Low/Medium Profile) a tube of Arbosil 1081 black sealant to fill in the gap between the acrylic and the frame once it is stuck in position and a bottle of Detak with an acrylic scraper for removing the old sealant from the frame. The lid closing seal on the hatch is not included as they are usually still in good condition and just need a wipe over with some petroleum jelly. One tube of Arbosil 1081 is usually enough for two small hatches and a bottle of Detak will be enough to do all the hatches on your boat.

FIXING KITS FOR FIXED PANE WESTERLY MARSH WALTERS WINDOWS

Most earlier Westerly yachts have framed windows held in by 3.5mm screws and interscrews (or 4BA threads on very early boats). The original interscrews and screws were made of chrome plated brass and you will probably find if you remove a window that some of the interscrews have failed. Others will break when you try to tighten them up again. They are all likely to be blocked up with old sealant. We have had a special production run of stainless steel interscrews made with 3.5mm tapping. Feed back showed that Westerly owners were concerned that our other interscrews did not have slots in the heads so we specified slots with the new batch of fixings. In order to machine the slots they had to make the heads deeper.

Kits contain stainless steel interscrews, countersunk screws in 10mm, 12mm and 16mm lengths, Scapa 3507 bedding tape and a fixing guide. With a drill enlarge the holes in the clamping frame and the grp to 7mm or 17/64" (not the frame with the glass!)
